DENVER and NEW YORK, Nov. 12, 2012 /PRNewswire/ -- CoreSite Realty Corporation (NYSE: COR), a national provider of powerful, network-rich data centers, and Sidera networks, the premier supplier of fiber optic-based network solutions, announced that Sidera is providing connectivity between CoreSite data centers located in critical communications markets including Chicago; Boston; New York; Washington, DC; and Reston, VA. Sidera's high capacity network will support the requirements of CoreSite's financial services, content delivery, web services, media and entertainment, and other high-bandwidth customers by providing the redundancy, diversity, and scalability required to effectively run performance-sensitive applications deployed in CoreSite's data centers.

Sidera Networks is the leading provider of tailored, high-capacity communications services to both carrier and large enterprise customers. Sidera Networks offers a comprehensive suite of facilities-based services, including Ethernet, SONET, wavelength, dark fiber, and internet access.

Connecting through the Sidera network gives CoreSite customers immediate access to over 40 financial exchanges and the Sidera Xtreme Ultra-Low Latency Network, which was specifically designed for applications demanding the lowest latency and highest performance.

Additionally, as a result of the expansion into additional CoreSite data centers, Sidera will extend peering on CoreSite's Any2 exchange, the nation's second largest peering exchange. Sidera also will be able to provide seamless access to CoreSite's Open Internet Exchange, an aggregation hub that gives expanded peering and interconnection opportunities to CoreSite customers.

"CoreSite has developed a successful model of attracting the largest content players, service providers, and end-customers and connecting them together at key exchange points around the country," said Jarrett Appleby, COO, CoreSite. "This strategy relies on our selection of key fiber providers like Sidera to deliver high-performance networks for our customers' applications."

"Sidera is proud to be a part of CoreSite's ecosystems," said Clint Heiden, President, Sidera Networks.
