Gamblit chose to partner with CoreSite for its first U.S. data center deployment based on CoreSite's carrier-neutral platform of network-rich, cloud-enabled facilities, which Gamblit believes will provide the company with scalability and flexibility to accommodate future growth. "Gamblit Gaming has been experiencing fantastic growth, providing online gaming globally and preparing for a massive launch into casinos across the USA," said Clifford Kaylin, CTO at Gamblit. "CoreSite's Los Angeles data center campus offered the cloud services, scalability, and flexibility needed to support this on-going growth."

"CoreSite is pleased to add Gamblit Gaming to our well-established media, gaming, and entertainment community of interest in Los Angeles," said Steve Smith, CoreSite's senior vice president of sales and marketing. "Our broad cloud-rich platform provides a robust solution for enterprises looking to expand their businesses in a scalable, secure and reliable facility. Our team of experienced professionals looks forward to working alongside Gamblit to support its growth objectives."
